Rezilon for Grassbur

Control

Rezilon requires a split-application for grassbur control. The first application should have been applied in mid-February at 3 oz/acre. We would like the second application to go out within the next 10 to 20 days. For hay fields, ideally after your first hay cutting. This second application will push the residual from the first application further in to the season. If emerged grassburs are noticed, a 1 ounce addition of Pastora to the tank of Rezilon will help knock down those tender burrs.

Reminders:

- If you plan to overseed ryegrass in the fall, Rezilon CANNOT be used.
- Do NOT exceed 6 oz/acre of Rezilon in a 12-month period with sequential applications.
- Grassburs require a split application. 3 oz/acre by mid-February and 3 oz/acre by the end of May.
- When Rezilon is applied at a rate greater than 3 oz/acre, hay may not be harvested until 40 days after the application.

Key weeds controlled: Grassburs, Crabgrass, Ryegrass, Goosegrass and Annual Foxtails.

Call Producers for any questions or tailored options for specific weed & management situations.

High Quality Feed from High Quality Ingredients

Producers high-quality feed is made possible by sourcing high-quality ingredients. Each ingredient is sampled and analyzed to ensure quality and safety. Our feed division recently installed an automatic grain probe to help obtain those samples across the depth of the bulk trailer.

Here at Producers excellence comes standard and it all starts in our Feed Mill Lab. Our certified lab technicians are dedicated to ensuring all products-incoming and outgoing, bulk or bagged, are of the highest quality. We have implemented various types of advanced technology to ensure the safety and quality of all feedstuffs. Producers views feed safety with the utmost importance and we dedicate ourselves every day to creating a product that our customers can be confident in.
