Rezilon for Grassbur Control

Rezilon requires a split-application for grassbur control. The first application should have been applied in mid-February at 3 oz/acre. The second application should go out within the next 10 to 20 days. For hayfields, ideally after your first hay cutting. This second application will push the residual from the first application further into the season. If emerged grassburs are noticed, a 1 ounce addition of Pastora to the tank of Rezilon will help knock down those tender burrs.

Reminders:

- Rezilon CANNOT be used if you plan to overseed in the fall with small grains; such as, oats, wheat or ryegrass.
- Do NOT exceed 6 oz/acre of Rezilon in a 12-month period with sequential applications.
- Grassburs require a split application. 3 oz/acre by mid-February and 3 oz/acre by the end of May.
- When Rezilon is applied at a rate greater than 3 oz/acre, hay may not be harvested until 40 days after the application.

Key weeds controlled: Grassburs, Crabgrass, Ryegrass, Goosegrass and Annual Foxtails.

Call Producers for any questions or tailored options for specific weed & management situations.

Indoor & Outdoor Flea Control

The pesky flea is a nuisance. Symptoms that your pets may experience include intense itching and irritation. Bacterial infections and tapeworms can also be transmitted from a flea bite. Their ability to multiply is quite impressive as they shed thousands of eggs on your pet, in your home and in your yard. Producers offers a variety of products to fit your flea control needs.

From The Ground Up

From The Ground Up educates our friends and neighbors in the Brazos Valley about agriculture and its impact on their everyday lives. Be sure to watch our weekly televised segment at approximately 6:15 am on Thursday or during the Saturday 6 o'clock evening news on KBTX-TV 3, Bryan-College Station's CBS affiliate.

Potential opportunities are on the horizon that involve farmers abilities to suppress carbon into the soil. Professor & Extension Economist, Dr. Joe Outlaw, has more on this week's From The Ground Up.
